WELCOME to the FEBRUARY edition of LINK

One of my greatest frustrations with the church's seasonal calendar is the fact that, thanks to Easter, Cadbury's Mini Eggs are only easily available for a few months each year.

It's a funny thing that Easter is linked so strongly to eggs. Indeed, for many it indicates that Christianity is just trying to usurp older, pagan religions, and has no meaningful contribution of its own - light shining in the darkness at Winter, and celebrations of new life in the Spring - eggs, baby bunnies and spring lambs - are part of many cultures' rhythms. Even the word Easter has no clear Christian origin, but is thought to be derived from the name of the ancient Saxon goddess of Spring: Eostre.

But even if the ancient church blurred the lines when they eased the transition of northern European cultures to Christianity by lining up their festivals with those of the pagan traditions they were absorbing, the fact remains that Christianity proclaims one wildly distinctive point of faith, namely that the same Christ who died on the Cross one Good Friday afternoon, and who lay dead in a tomb over the next two nights, returned to life on the Sunday.

This reality offers a hope much greater than the endless cycle of life and death, where last year's livestock are replaced by this year's lambs. The Christian hope is in the cycle of life and death being broken entirely, so that death no longer needs to be the last word for any of us - by faith in Jesus' death for us, we can be assured of receiving the same everlasting life He received, beyond the grave.

The egg encapsulates this Christian distinctive nicely. The life contained within an egg is destined to burst out, leaving behind an empty shell. And that empty shell points us towards the empty tomb that the risen Christ left behind on Easter Sunday.

So as spring begins to emerge, let us enjoy our symbols of new life, but let us depend, above all on the one who offers us life without end.

God bless

Phil

WINCHESTER

Diocesan news

11th January 2025

Bishop Rhiannon was installed as the 17th Bishop of Southampton in Winchester Cathedral.

2025 marks the 1700th anniversary of the introduction of the Nicene Creed.

The Nicene Creed is the defining statement of faith or belief for all Christian people. It was created to have one universal statement of faith for all Christian people no matter where they were or which denomination they followed. The Nicene Creed is used in important services and every Sunday during worship.

Happy New Year to all our readers.

Before we leave 2024 completely we celebrate some of the events in our parish at the end of 2024 ...

Advent and Christmas at St. Andrew's

Advent began with a Festival of Light which was very well attended by folk from the parish church. St Andrew's looks so beautiful and different by candlelight and the mince pies and mulled wine afterwards were enjoyed by all present.

As the Advent candles were lit Sunday by Sunday, we were reminded of characters who played their part in preparing the way as we progressed to our carol service. This was a delightful time which reminded us again of the reason for the celebration to come. As usual, we enjoyed the presence of the handbell ringers.

On Christmas Day we celebrated the birth of our Saviour and in our communion service were reminded of all that He did to procure our salvation. It was wonderful to have Lesley and her family with us and to enjoy an impromptu carol led by Christine and Mike's family at the end of worship!

Then the final celebration was a joint parish communion on the last Sunday of December. A full car park and a full church indicated a time of rejoicing together as a parish - December bookended by joint services. Thank you to all those who led worship and who in any way contributed to our celebrations.

Kate and Douglas Pryde

Christmas at All Saints'

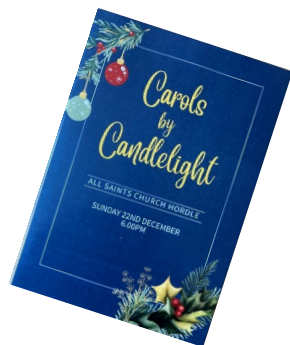

The All Saints' Hordle Church Christmas services were a joyous celebration, bringing the community together in festive spirit, for which the church was beautifully decorated.

The popular Carol Service, featuring a strong community choir, filled the church with beautiful harmonies, aided by the choir from Hordle School. Mince pies and mulled wine were provided after the service.

The children's Crib Service with its Lost Sheep trail, and the Christingle Service were heart-warming, with many local children participating enthusiastically.

The traditional Christmas Eve and Christmas Day services were well attended, creating a sense of unity and joy among all who gathered. It was a truly memorable and uplifting season for everyone involved.

June Bailey

Tiptoe School village carols

Invitations went out to village residents for the first Tiptoe School Christmas Carol gathering. This took place in the school hall, round the Christmas tree and was a very happy occasion. A few people came, and those of us who did fully enjoyed it. We were served mulled wine and mince pies after the gathering, which finished the morning off nicely.

Thanks to Tiptoe school for running the event, and hopefully many more people will come next year.

Fun and Fellowship Christmas Special - 10th December

This is becoming a welcome addition to our Christmas festivities! The number of chairs initially put out had to be continually increased as more and more people arrived—some bearing festive food and others equipped with readings or poems to help us look at the anticipated Christmas season in perhaps a new light. Some were funny, some thought provoking and some the traditional (or so we thought) Christmas story ... Clive and Angie were soon to prove us wrong!

Interspersed with carols, the readings and delicious food made for a very enjoyable afternoon of anticipation.

The food's all gone! More next year!

Fish and Chip Supper 29th November

Fully fortified by fish and chips, some fifty or so brave souls had their general knowledge tested by Chris and Janice Benson on 29th November at the Quiz night. This is always a well received fixture in our St Andrew's calendar.

Open the Book at Tiptoe School

The last Open the Book of the term was the Nativity story. Afterwards 128 Christmas books and wooden tree decorations were presented to the headteacher, Mrs Helen Smith, for the children. They were presents for every child in the school, thanks to a very generous supporter of OTB in the parish.

And another festive celebration!

We continue to meet for Lunch Club on the 1st Thursday of the month and for Tea @ 3 on the 3rd Thursday at All Saints in the Church Hall.

In January last year we decided to serve easier to prepare meals in order to make things easier for the kitchen staff. We hoped this would be supported by those attending the lunch so that the lunch club could continue into the future. Thankfully they have continued to attend the lunch when their health allows and they enjoy the company and the lighter meal that we now provide. This last Christmas lunch we served Salmon Wellington followed by a Forest Berry Meringue which was enjoyed by all.

At our Christmas Tea @ 3 we had a surprise visit from Father and Mrs Christmas dressed in amazing outfits which, along with crackers and chatter, made a lovely afternoon.

Mike and Jill Peace

Tell us about it!

LINK can only report on our church activities which are reported to it! If you would like an event you attend to be brought to the attention of other folk, do please send in a report (and picture if possible) to the Editor - we will do our best to include them in a later issue.

So now we turn our attention to 2025

BISHOP PHILIP'S PRAYER FOR THE NEW YEAR

Lord Jesus, we thank and praise you that the light of your love has shone into our hearts.
Give us grace to shine your light into the dark places of this world – and of your Church,
That the light of your love might dawn,
And the whole earth be drawn to praise you,
Now and for all eternity,
Amen

Covenant Service - 5th January

This was a new addition to the Tiptoe calendar, which Revd Simon Hones had used in previous ministries.

Unashamedly brought in from its Methodist origins, the Covenant Service gave an opportunity to renew our side of our covenant with God.

As the introduction explained "On the one side, God promises in this Covenant to give us new life in Jesus. On the other side, we are pledged to live no longer for ourselves, but for Him. Today, therefore, we meet expressly, as generations of our fathers have met, to renew the Covenant which bound them, and binds us, to God."

What a fitting way to begin the New Year.

Beaulieu

Recently, the Lower Juniors at Hordle Primary School travelled back in time to the Victorian times and visited Beaulieu Motor Museum.

During our visit, the children visited Palace House and learnt what it would be like to be a housemaid or a butler in a large house. After that, they were lucky enough to look at modes of transport from the time - they saw a penny farthing, the very first car and then were lucky enough to have an exhilarating ride in an old-fashioned, traditional car! What a brilliant day!

NEWS FROM OUR MISSION PARTNERS

From Bible Society - in Nov 24:

Greetings from our long-suffering Ukraine! Today we had another terrible night and morning. Russia has intensified its strikes, targeting Ukrainian cities nightly. Over the past two weeks, our children have spent more hours in bomb shelters than in school classrooms. We experience psychological, emotional and physical exhaustion. People are dying every day.

'This morning I heard explosions and saw columns of smoke not far from the Bible Society office. I quickly got ready to go to the office. But the road was already blocked because of debris from Iranian drones that had hit the area. I learned that the explosions occurred about 700 meters from our office, which provided some reassurance. Anatoli.

From Bible Society

The Psalm 23 garden from the Chelsea Flower Show is now installed at the Winchester Hospice. In Nov 24 Hazel Southam wrote of its significance ...

'The beautiful flowers and the sound of the water help us to take a deep breath and go back inside and be as compassionate and kind as we have ever been,' she added.

Hazel Southam, Psalm 23 Garden project manager said, 'We are so delighted that the Psalm 23 Garden is giving people a living sense of God's presence and restoration, at Winchester Hospice.

'It was so important to us that the garden lived on after the RHS Chelsea Flower Show. It's in a wonderful setting where it can make a difference to patients and their families in very difficult times, as well as being a restorative place for staff to take a break.'

From Leprosy Mission

The team at Anandaban are facing the most challenging time in its history.

In late September, deadly monsoon rains hit the Kathmandu valley. The district surrounding the hospital sadly bore the brunt of the downpours.

The floods caused catastrophic landslides at Anandaban. The team are working tirelessly to clear the debris. But the recovery and repairs will take time.

The landslide damaged the water and electricity supply. Thankfully, the hospital team have made temporary repairs so they can continue providing emergency care. But a sustainable solution is needed.

Your support and prayers are an incredible encouragement for the team and patients at Anandaban. Thank you for your continued kindness for people affected by leprosy in Nepal.

THOUGHTS FROM MY GARDEN ...

Another new year has started; with all that is going on in the world I hope it will be peaceful. It has been cold, but that will be good for the garden as some plants need a period of cold to flourish.

Soon we shall be able to get out and start the growing process all over again and watch the beauty of nature take over. There were about 12 long-tailed tits on the fat balls one morning while I was having my porridge. They don't stay long, so you need to be watching or you miss them. They are such pretty little birds. I wonder how do they cope with the long cold nights we are having? Some birds huddle together to keep warm. Perhaps these do as they do go around in a group.

A pheasant has been visiting, clearing up under the bird feeders. He knows where the seed comes from as he looks up when he wants more! I had been putting food out for the hedgehog, which was being eaten overnight, but why had the hedgehog not hibernated? I was about to get a wildlife camera when one afternoon, just as it was getting dark, a black cat appeared in the drive and walked around the house to where the food was, under the wheelbarrow. Yes, I was feeding a cat! He did come the next day but only found three bits of food. I expect his family are wondering why he is now so hungry in the evening!

Thank you God for the beauty around us.

The Archbishop of York has written to all members of the Church of England. The full text, which can be read on his website, is a seven minute read, so this is an abbreviated version!

Epiphany letter to the Church of England

Archbishop Stephen has written to all clergy, lay ministers and people in the Church of England today, on the Feast of Epiphany.

Dear Friends in Christ,

Mindful of the ongoing challenges facing the Church of England, I write to you, the people of the Church of England, trusting that with God's guidance, we can look to the future with great hopefulness in Christ. The Magi came to the Christ child and their lives were re-directed. Please join me in praying for the renewal of our church as we come again to Christ to seek God's way for God's church.

First, I want to express my deep gratitude for your faithfulness. The unstinting witness and service of parish churches brings hope and light, embodying the message of the Gospel, a message of peace and of new beginnings that is needed so urgently in our world as well as our church.

Working closely with Sarah, the Bishop of London, for most of the next year it falls to me to help guide the Church of England through these challenging times. I am hugely grateful for the affirmation and support I have received, though I know and accept that some people have concerns. But aware of my own needs and shortcomings I pledge myself to learn, and I pledge myself to do what I can to steer through the change we need on these important issues and to hold myself accountable, both to the processes we have at the moment and to the new ones we will introduce. I invite the people of the Church of England to do the same and in your parish to pray for the stability, good governance, and renewal of our Church. Such a renewal of prayer, a new dependence upon God and a new focus on discipleship, living out our Christian vocation each day, will, I believe, help us to become a simpler, humbler and bolder church.

Finally, in this Epiphany-tide, I am reminded that in Christ God comes to us in the most vulnerable thing we can imagine: a tiny, newborn child. Let us learn from this and ensure that we are putting the needs of the vulnerable first. Let us commit ourselves to becoming a Church that looks and sounds like Jesus: penitent, kind, and in tune with the will and purposes of God.

Yours in Christ, Stephen.

FOND FAREWELLS FROM LIBERIA

It's never easy to say goodbye. It's the relationships with the wonderful people, Liberians and expats, which are the hardest things to leave behind. In leaving our second African nation, we were overwhelmed by the many meaningful farewells.

Becky's ladies Bible study group put on a surprise farewell party to say goodbye.

All of the ladies brought delicious treats to share together.

A goodbye hug from Love, a lady who brought us tasty bananas, straight to our door.

Liberian style gifts from our cleaner, Fannie, and gardener, Samuel.

We both managed to squeeze onto one final flight in Liberia, to see the country from the air.

WHAT LIFE IN THE UK MAY LOOK LIKE

FOR DAVE

It's a bit different to my office in the hangar in Liberia, but I'm enjoying settling into my new corner in MAF's head office in Ashford. I'll be starting full time in January, but I'm popping in a couple of times before then to get used to how everything works and where I'll be situated. I'm excited to get stuck in with my new role within MAF—Project Manager, Fleet Development and Innovation, while continuing to support West Africa as Maintenance Controller. It will be an interesting year, and I'm not quite sure what it will all look like yet, but I look forward to finding out!

FOR BECKY

Things are a little less certain for me. I would love to use this year as an opportunity to do more writing, and produce more encouragements from the Bible for YouTube. I will also likely need to earn a little extra money, to enable us to pay the bills here in the UK, so I will be considering part time jobs in the new year. Please do pray that the right opportunity would present itself, or that book sales would pick up! In the meantime, I am enjoying some of the little luxuries of the UK, like reliable power and water supplies! Not to mention chocolate and cheese, available whenever I want them!

THINKING FUTURE — NEAR AND FAR

If you've been following our news lately, you'll know that our plan is to be located in the UK for the next year. That's still the plan; we're not sure what will come after that time. We have a little holiday booked to explore Scotland for a couple of weeks in March, and we've set that as a marker, after which we'll start considering our next steps. Until then, we will try hard not to think or talk too much about it, and leave it all in the safest place it can be, the hands of Almighty God.

During this time in the UK, we are still being funded by the incredibly generous donations of individuals, churches and groups, so we really do appreciate you continuing to support us in this way. We will keep you posted with new developments as and when we have any news! We are also looking forward to coming to visit various churches around the UK next year. We will start those visits after our holiday in March, but if you would like to book us in, please do get in touch in January and we can start to fill up the calendar! We are always happy to talk about our work with MAF, and Becky would happily take on any preaching engagements too.

It has been a challenging couple of years, and we're finding it hard to switch off the adrenalin tap that has been fully open for many, many months. Along with our various work, we really hope to be able to rest and recover in the coming weeks. We are looking forward to precious time with friends and family, who we haven't seen regularly in so long. We're so thankful for your prayers for us in this time.

Can You Join the Adventure?

Without the support of so many wonderful people, we wouldn't be able to continue our work with MAF. It means so much to have such a wonderful group cheering us on, and practically supporting us. If you would like to join the team in this way, you can make a monthly or one-off donation on our page on the MAF website:

www.maf-uk.org/waterman

The Ultimate Repair Shop ... Kintsugi!

Have you ever felt like a bowling king pin? Systematically picked up and knocked down?

A few months ago, starting with Covid (ghastly), a series of losing precious friends and family dilemmas that seemed impossible to resolve, I came to the challenge that God was off the planet and not sending postcards!

One evening, exhausted and broken hearted, I poured it all out again to God in faith I didn't feel.

I imagined a beautiful vase, exquisite and valuable and, to my horror, it was smashed into smithereens. I wept! It seemed a tragic waste. Then, before my eyes the splinters were collected and welded together with pure gold!

The vase was resurrected, whole, yet it bore seams of pure gold which held it together!

You're likely wondering what is Kintsugi? Let me explain. Kintsugi is the Japanese art of putting shattered pieces of pottery together with gold.

This idea embraces flaws and imperfections, creating a more beautiful, valuable and even stronger work of art!

I felt a deep joy fill my spirit.

Now I am reassured that God is indeed in the business of making us whole and that we can trust Him for restoration that is beyond our own ability.

Praise God indeed!!

A humbled rejoicing Saint

Bellringing

What are you doing on these dark winter evenings?

Why not try Bellringing? It is not hard work
- just a skill that needs practise.

What is the commitment? We practise every Tuesday evening. Beginners have the opportunity to learn how to handle the bell at a separate time on a silenced bell first.

We ring for services on 2nd 4th and 5th Sundays.

Due to poor health, we are currently down in numbers. To enable us to ring all eight bells we need more ringers.

Handbells

We have a small group who meet regularly (ish) for fun on some Monday afternoons for an hour.

No need to read music as we play by numbers. During the year we play at day centres, and residential homes, but mostly we are invited at Christmas. We have also been at Tiptoe for their carol service, and Tesco (New Milton) kindly let us play and collect for Oakhaven - this year our collection was £376.34 - thank you to Tesco and their customers.

To ease the commitment, we could do with a few more people to join us. Currently we all need to turn up most of the time in December. Most events are in the afternoons.

If you would more details about bell ringing or handbells, please come and visit us in the belfry any Tuesday evening or phone Faith or Tony on 01425 611947

Congratulations and good wishes to Faith and Tony as they celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary on 15th February.

Care in your own home

Our social enterprise
helps to fund
Oakhaven Hospice

Support with the activities of daily life and companionship to help combat loneliness and isolation.

From 30-minute 'drop-ins' to multiple daily visits to 24-hour live-in care, we can help you remain independent in the familiar surroundings you know and love, while receiving the support you need.

Our friendly, qualified Care Assistants provide a wide range of paid care services, tailored to your exact needs and wishes for your day-to-day routine.

Services include support with daily tasks; personal care; nutrition and fluid support; assistance with medication; help with attending activities and appointments; and companionship, helping you live your life to the fullest in the comfort of home.

Could you become an Oakhaven Carer?
